7. ☐ Examiner's Amendment/Comment
8. ☒ Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance
9. ☐ Other _____.

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: In view of applicants' amendment, the instant claims are neither taught nor suggested by the prior art. The Examiner has included an English language translation of the JP document previously applied against the claims. Page 18 teaches the addition of metallic oxide sol and, since page 5 refers to metallic oxide sols as including SiO₂ among other oxides, one could argue that this reference suggests the addition of a silicon oxide sol. This reference does not, however, adequately suggest the addition of a hollow silica sol or a colloidal silica in the amounts as claimed, when the dispersing water has the particular pH. Thus, in summary, between the necessary selection of an amount of (i) as claimed, in combination with the necessary selection of a compound meeting (B) in an amount as claimed and in combination with the selection of one of the two particular types of fine particles in an amount as claimed, the totality of the instant claims simply is not suggested by this reference.

The Examiner called applicants' representative, Richard Gallagher, on 12/20/06 to clarify the language "a dispersing water of which is set within a pH range of 2 to 7". Reference to a dispersing water is not explicitly found previously in the claim and the Examiner was unclear that this term had antecedent basis. Mr. Gallagher indicated that basis for this term was implicitly found in this newly added limitation because both colloidal silica and silica sol are inherently present as aqueous dispersions.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

2. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Margaret G. Moore whose telephone number is 571-272-1090. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Wednesday and Friday, 10am to 4pm.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Randy Gulakowski can be reached on (571) 272-1302. The fax phone
